ARBOR DAY.

Governor LaFollette Names Tomorrow for Planting Trees.

Last Tuesday Gov. La Follette issued a proclamation fixing April 28th as Arbor day. The proclamation is as follows:

"By authority of law and in conformity with custom I, Robert M. La Follette, governor of the state of Wisconsin, designate Friday, April 28, as Arbor Day. That there may be wrought into the mind of the youth of the state a proper appreciation of the value of true life and bird life, the law makes it the duty of the executive to name one day when special attention shall be directed to this subject. Arbor day should be observed by our schools and colleges and other institutions by the planting of trees, the adornment of school and public grounds, and by suitable exercises having for their object the advancement of the study of arboriculture, the promotion of a spirit of protection to birds and trees and the cultivation of an appreciative sentiment concerning them. The industrial and commercial importance of the culture and restoration of our forest may properly have recognition on this day, broadening its purpose in a demonstration of their increasing value in the industrial life of the state."

BODY RECOVERED.

The body of Wm. Smith, who was drowned in Squaw Lake, near Woodboro, on December 13th last, was recovered Monday afternoon. Smith was a wood-man and had made Woodboro his headquarters for some years.

He left Woodboro on the afternoon of the above date for camp. It being his custom to cross the ice as a short cut. It is presumed that he fell through an air hole. The body was found floating on the surface of the water by Steve Kettner while rowing about the lake. It was badly decomposed, the features being unrecognizable. Deputy Coronor F. M. Mason of this city was notified, who with undertaker Hildebrand, left for the scene, returning late that evening with the remains. Burial was made Tuesday morning in Forest Home cemetery. Smith was about forty-five years of age. Nothing is known of his relatives. Twenty dollars was found on his clothing, the money being used to defray burial expenses. An inquest will be conducted today.

JULY 4TH THE DAY.

Some days ago an article appeared in the Minneapolis Journal from the pen of their correspondent here, in regard to young women homesteaders seeking husbands. We publish it below. The postmaster and city clerk are receiving inquiries by nearly every mail from young men in all parts of the country who are willing to be sacrificed, and newspapers all over the west have republished the article. The Dorchester Herald last week published a list of 45 young men of that place who might be persuaded to become bridegrooms. The original article is as follows:

Rhinelander, Wis., April 14.—This prosperous little city will be the scene of great matrimonial activity this spring and summer. In the last two years several hundred women have homesteaded lands adjacent to the city. The majority of them are young and fair to look upon, but by reason of their isolation in their forest homes have no means of selecting representatives of the opposite sex.

The city and county have taken up the matter of encouraging matrimony among the homesteaders, and inducements will be held out to worthy men to join these lonely but prospective women in wedlock.

Germany has agreed to the the matrimony of free and leading business men will give valuable presents to the couple.

July 4th has been selected as the red-letter matrimonial day. Plans are being formed for 100 marriages in the city park, and $2500 will be presented to each couple as soon as the ceremony is performed.—Minneapolis Journal.

MAGAZINES FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Saturday, May 6th, boys will call at your house to collect any magazines you have ready to send to the library.

No magazine collection was made last spring, as we had no storage room. We have abundance of room now and we can make good use of all magazines and illustrated papers.

The magazines given us in the collections of 1902 and 1903 helped greatly to build up our file of bound magazines. They also furnish material that is in constant use in the schools. Duplicate magazines and those not of permanent value have been sent out to schools and to people in the country, where good use has been made of them. Thousands of magazines and papers have been sent during the past three years to the lumber camps in this vicinity.

Is not this a better way to dispose of your old magazines than to store them away in an attic or to burn them? Look up what you have and get them ready to hand to the boys Saturday, May 6.

Don't forget the cake sale Saturday at Chatterton's meat market.

EASTER SERVICES.

The story of the Resurrection, told in anthem and sermon, was heard by many people in this city last Sunday. The perfection of the beautiful spring day added to the joy of the occasion, and special services in all the churches throughout the city marked the observance of the festival. The services at the Congregational church were largely attended filling the auditorium at both services. Many towering plants filled the pulpit platform. A full chorus discussed several anthems. Mr. Wilson's sermon discussed the "Certainty's of Religion" which he enumerated as "God, Immortality and Moral Conscience." The evening hour was occupied by many appropriate exercises by the Sunday school children. The special offerings of the day were applied to the Wisconsin Home Missionary Society.

The Easter services at the Methodist Episcopal church were attended by large congregations under much interest. In the morning the house was crowded while the pastor spoke on "The Resurrection Life". Rev. English also made appropriate remarks. The Missionary Easter Program by the Sunday School was a great success, the collection taken among the children yielding a good sum. At the evening service Rev. English gave a powerful discourse on the philosophy, necessity and certainty of a place and time of punishment for the incorrigible and the certainty of future felicity for the righteous. He was sold with great interest, and many sold he gave the most convincing arguments ever heard here. Good music was a feature of the day.

At St. Augustine's church the floral decorations were not as costly nor elaborate as on former Easters, but the altar was tastily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, while in the Rood-screen arches were hung ferns. At the 7:30 a.m. service over half of all the members made the recommendation. At 10:30 Woodward's service in E. Flat was rendered:

Introit 100.....	Woodward
Kyrie.....	Woodward
Sequence 56.....	Woodward
Credo.....	Woodward
Hymn 121.....	Woodward
Offertory 500.....	Miss Becker
Sanctus.....	Woodward
Benedictus.....	Woodward
Agnes 100.....	Woodward
Gloria in Excelsis.....	Woodward
Hymn 122.....	Woodward

Services at St. Mary's church were in keeping with the occasion and well attended. Two masses were celebrated, at 8 and at 10 o'clock. At the six o'clock mass over one hundred and fifty received communion. At both services an Easter collection for the pastor was taken up. The church was prettily decorated, the altar, and a profusion of palms, potted plants and flowers, presenting a most beautiful picture.

INFANT DIES.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hedinzy, residents of the north side, are mourning the death of their infant daughter, aged eleven months, which occurred Saturday. The funeral was held at two o'clock Monday afternoon from St. Mary's church.

THE REVIVAL.

Much interest is manifested in the revival meetings now being held at the Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. Chas. F. English. While the attendance is good, there is room for many more who might need the help and encouragement that is given in these meetings.

Rev. English gives an interesting address every evening, delivered in a winsomely pleasant manner, yet with all force and impressiveness.

The judgment, put with great earnestness, "Hast Christ bear the cross alone?" meets with the ready response from every listening heart "I, too, will do my part". One can not fail to be impressed with the unity of the members in their efforts toward the uplifting of humanity.

INDIANS CAN DRINK.

A recent decision of the supreme court of the United States is to the effect that Indians, who have received allotment are citizens of the United States, and as such, cannot be deprived of any of the rights of a citizen.

As a necessary consequence, liquor dealers cannot be fined or otherwise punished for selling liquor to citizens of a state, where there is no general prohibition law to the contrary.

This decision it seems will interfere with the semi-annual harvest of the United States Marshals who have been in the habit of taking a small army of witnesses to Madison twice a year to testify against some one who has sold liquor to Indians.

The law prohibiting the selling of liquor is still on the statute books, but under this decision is plainly illegal.

Arrests can still be made as in the past, but the liquor dealer who is willing to carry it to the highest court will undoubtedly get clear.

Who Does It.

Complaints are being made regarding the condition of the streets in the vicinity of the north side school.

The streets are usually littered up with slabs, sticks of wood, large stones and a number of other things and as the street commissioners cannot be on all streets in one day to attend to the removal of the rubbish, it is suggested that the residents take the matter in hand and ascertain who is responsible for the unloading of

RUN ON MILWAUKEE BANK.

Frank G. Bigelow, President of the First National Bank of Milwaukee, is a defaulter to the extent of $1,20,000 and Assistant Cashier Goll is a fugitive from justice. WDR scenes were enacted in the vicinity of the bank Monday. Thousands of people congregated and the police were unable to maintain order. Men cursed and women wept. Street cars could not get through the crowd. People struggled and tore each other's clothing in a vain effort to crowd into the bank. The shortage was discovered Saturday and the officials of the bank were enabled to get in sufficient funds to withstand the run expected Monday.

CONGRESSMAN BROWN GOT IT.

A cancelling machine to cancel postage stamps has been placed in the postoffice. These machines are usually placed only in larger offices, but owing to the efforts of Congressman Brown, who desired to have one in use in his home city, one was secured for this office. They are a great convenience and after the machine is placed in good running condition will facilitate the work.

ARRESTS TOMAHAWK MAN.

Peter Lindquist of Tomahawk, who was wanted by the authorities of that city for deserting his family over a year ago, was arrested here Tuesday night by Chief Straub. The man had been working for sometime past at Hiles, Forest county, and had just arrived in the city a few minutes previous to his arrest.

THROWN FROM TRAIN.

In an attempt to board a moving north bound Northwestern passenger train at the Davenport street crossing, Blasie Willette, a woodman, was thrown violently to the ground, breaking his left arm and sustaining slight injuries about the body. Dr. Stone dressed his injuries. Being minus funds, the county will be obliged to care for him until he is able to work. He is confined at the poor farm.

WHERE THEY PLAYED.

Wilson's orchestra furnished music for a big Easter dance at Minocqua Monday evening; Stormfels' orchestra played at Woolruff; the new Military orchestra played here for Co. L dance, and Brusoe Bros. were engaged by the Leiderkraatz society.

INFANT DIES.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hedinzy, residents of the north side, are mourning the death of their infant daughter, aged eleven months, which occurred Saturday. The funeral was held at two o'clock Monday afternoon from St. Mary's church.

ANOTHER RECORD IN LAND-HUNTING.

This Spring's Excels to Canada
Greater Than Ever.

It was thought in 1903, when over forty-five thousand people went from the United States to Canada, that the limit of the yearly emigration to the wheat zone of the Continent had been reached. But when in 1904 about as large a number of American citizens signified their intention of becoming settlers on Canadian lands, the general public were prepared for the announcement of large numbers in 1905. No surprise therefore will be caused when it is made known that the predictions of fully fifty thousand more in 1905 are warranted in the fact that the Spring movement Canadward is greater than it has ever been. The special trains from Omaha, Chicago, St. Paul, Detroit, and other gateways, have been crowded. Many have gone to join friends and relatives who have prepared homes for them, and others have gone relying upon their own resources, satisfied that what others have done can also be done by them. This year much new territory has been opened up by the railroads, which are extending their main lines and throwing out branches in their march across the best grain and grazing lands on the Continent. This new territory has attracted for those desiring to homestead on the one hundred and sixty acres granted each settler by the Canadian Government. Many also take advantage of the opportunity to purchase lands at the low figures at which they are now being offered.

It does not require much thought to convince one that if Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, and other lands, with a value of from fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars an acre will give a good living by producing ten bushels to thirteen bushels of wheat to the acre, the lands of Western Canada at seven to ten dollars an acre, producing from twenty to thirty bushels of a superior wheat to the acre, should produce a competence to the ordinary farmer in a very few years. These are the facts as they confront the reader. There are millions of acres of such land in Western Canada in addition to the other millions that are considered to be portions of the biggest and best ranges that ever invited the cattle and horse producer of the North American continent. What is particularly evident in Western Canada is the fact that the wheat lands, adjoining the grazing lands, make farming particularly agreeable and profitable. The agents of the Canadian Government, who are always willing to give information and advice to intending settlers, say that the acreage put under crop this season is greatly in excess of last season.

RACIAL PECULIARITIES.

A Burmese mile nearly equals two English ones. The word for "mile" in Burmese means "to sit," and so a mile is the distance that a man goes before he considers it necessary to sit down.

In China the stage is considered the lowest of professions. Actors share with barbers the pain of exclusion from competition at literary examinations, in which every successful candidate is a probable mandarin.

The wives of several prominent New Zealand gentlemen are tattooed upon the chin. These ladies are true Maories, or aborigines, and they are women of much charm and refinement. One is the wife of a learned judge.

Cannot Reduce a Rate.

It is stated in Washington, that under the Townsend rate bill, if a rate is fixed by the Commission it cannot be lowered by a railroad. Should an emergency arise calling for a decreased rate, the railroads or shippers would have to appeal again to the Commission, there being no latitude allowed, whatever the circumstances. Hitherto a maximum rate has been the rule, but no such concession is made under the proposed legislation.

Progress would be even more rapid than it is if we were all as anxious to earn all the money we get as we are to get all the money we earn.—Puck.

Life-Saving Stations.

More lives can be saved by having more small stations along the coast than by having only one great one. Bushie's Kure is now on sale at almost all drug stores in the country. If your Drugist has not got it, induce him to keep it. This multiplies the number of life-saving stations. Bushie's Kure is the remedy known for stomach trouble, Rheumatism, Gout, Pain, Weakness, Neuralgia, and Diseases of the Head or Nerves. Price $1. If you're fit, you'll not supply you, send to Dr. C. F. Bushie, Chicago.

THE REAL MOTHER

TRUE MATERNAL INSTINCT MAY BELONG TO SELMSTERS.

The "Mother-Heart" Not the Peculiar Possession of Mothers—Step-Mothers Need a Double Portion—True Maternal Love Infinitely Patient, Never Indulgent—The Successful Teacher Must Have the "Mother-Heart."

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.
(Copyright, 1904, by Joseph L. Bowles.)

Every woman has not a mother heart, though there is a prevalent impression to the contrary. A woman may have children of her own, and not possess an iota of that personal joy and infinite consecration which we fancy is an important element of motherhood. Simply because she is a wife, a woman does not care for her child. There are women who have never married, and who will be spinster to their latest day, who yet passionately love and adore children; who have, though they may never heart it, the felicity of the mother.

Not long ago a couple were arrested and brought before a justice of the peace in a New Jersey town for abandoning their child. The mother had taken the baby, with its little bundle of clothes, and a small sum of money, to a sort of foundling asylum, leaving the good women who carried on that institution to take charge of it, as she did not want to be disturbed. In court, she said, and her husband agreed with her, that the invasion of her home by an infant was wholly undesirable. "We did not want and will not be bothered with the baby, if we can help ourselves," said both those unnatural parents. An extreme instance, of course, but not isolated.

A mother who brought up a family very creditably, said to me in a burst of irritation: "What anyone sees to love in a baby, a little, unresponsive piece of flesh and blood, that has to be washed and fed and picked up and put down like furniture, I cannot understand. I never loved my babies. I endured them. When they were older, they were more interesting, but then they were objects of discipline, and I had endless annoyance with their manners and manner. Only when my children have grown up have I had good times with them. It could have had them grown up from the first I would have been satisfied."

This lack in some women of the mother-heart explains why women so often fail when they undertake the offices of a step-mother. A man, seeking a second wife, usually, with the hero of a recent story, declares: "I would ask no woman to marry me who would not do good to and fond of my little ones." This is the conviction firmly fixed, in the breast of the widower, also a father, when he goes out to look for a wife. The woman he courts, probably honestly means to do her best by his children, whom she idealizes in her fancy, supposing them to be little angels in great need of petting, caressing and managing. She does not dream much about the plain prose of bringing up children of assorted sizes, from the nursery up, children who miss their own mother dumbly and irresponsibly, and who have probably been taught by servants and kindred to be suspicious of and resentful to the one who steps into that motherless vacant place. The husband, absorbed in the new love, takes for granted, after the manner of men, that all is well with the children. Of the numberless infelicities and the occasional injustices, he takes no note, but unless the stepmother have double portion in her of the mother-heart, woe bet to the children.

It is not that the true mother-heart leans always to indulgence. One cannot measure its depth by such a wand as that. Mother-love is infinitely patient and compassionate, but it takes note of faults and corrects them. When stepmothers correct faults, they must blend their reproofs with tact, or they will be misunderstood. Children are very quick to know where there is real sympathy and, in short, the mother-heart. Rose Terry Cooke told of a hard-fisted, sour-faced New England farmer, whose first wife faded out of existence like a frost-bitten flower, leaving a sickly babe to an unfriendly world. The step-mother arrived in due time; a big, buxom, fearless, quick-tempered, warm-hearted creature, who met her churlish husband on equal terms and exacted fair treatment. She mothered the pallid boy into sturdiness and beauty, and when her own babies came, treated all alike; spanked and blessed the whole brood impartially, and had the success that a woman with the mother-heart always has with children.

Mrs. Oliphant, in whom the mother-nature was predominant, has put record in her autobiography, her extravagance of joy at the birth of every child, and her profound and inconsolable grief when death snatched away one of her babies. Thirty-six years after her little Marjorie, eight months old, was snatched from her arms, she says: "I remember still the look with which that baby died."

Mother-love is a strange, subtle, intangible thing. To be perfect, to attain the exquisite rhythm which belongs to it, a mother must love her babe before she sees it, before she enfolds it in her arms, in those happy months of mystery and waiting when it is hers only, her child unborn, but precious. If a mother, bearing children in anger, in pertinacity, in indifference, does not know this strange rapture, it is because she never had the real mother-heart.

My friend Elizabeth is an old maid, and glories in the term. She is beautiful and benignant, a woman who at 50 is the central figure in a drawing-room, the magnet for younger people, sought after by every one, young girls, boys at home from college, and grizzled veterans, so bright is her face, so winsome her manner, so merry are her jests. She has a mother's heart, and children run to her as to a refuge. One day meeting an Italian peasant woman with her little throng of dark-eyed babies, one in arms, one tugging uncertainly at the mother's skirt, two others running on before, Elizabeth exclaimed: "Oh, you blessed woman, with that bonny bunch of children. Let me help you." In her sms she caught up one of the little laughing rugos, and carried him rugged against her breast, till she reached the moment that the poor mother called home. Then she went back to her own beautiful mansion. "The single reason," she said, "is my regret not having married. Had I married, I might have been as rich as that peasant woman with her five bairns to love her."

A teacher who would be successful needs the endowment of the mother-heart. One reason why so many teachers break down and lose their grip, and find in mid-career that they are fast growing old, is that they have no real regard for children. They cannot get in touch with them. The mother-heart is lacking. As the great majority of teachers are women, and as it is woman's province to train the next generation, this is the greatest of misfortunes. The unsuccessful teachers of the world, of both sexes, have had the rare gift of caring for children and youth as individuals, of drawing them out, of enabling them to do and be their best. Without this gift no man can attain success as a pedagogue, however fine he be as scholar and disciplinarian, and certainly no woman, aware that her work bore her, that children are her avocation, can hope to do much for them in the schoolroom. She must have as her equipment something akin to the mother-heart.

Little Emily, who has a big family of dolls, has this heart of the mother for every one. When Christmas brought her a new doll, her mother thought Emily might send two of her older ones to a little black Gertrude across lots from her home. "No," said Emily, "I'll buy Gertrude a doll, if you like, but I won't give away my own children. If you had a new baby to-morrow, mother, would you give Lola and me away?"

The question was unanswered.

PRETTY HANDMADE LACE.

In This Day of Handwork It Were Well to Know How to Make the Effective Point Lace.

We offer designs for point lace, a very effective and at the same time simple pattern. The places where the braid and thread are sold frequently have for sale bookslets with full description of the popular laces. The prominent stitches in this pattern are the lace-stitch and spider-lace. Every Entertainer Should Carefully Observe for the Comfort of Her Guests.

Send a servant if you cannot yourself meet your guest at the station.

See that the guest's room is in perfect order. Plenty of fresh water and towels, a foot bath, matches, etc. Even if this is the readily switched on electric light, put a candle close at hand. A comfortable arm chair is a necessity.

Furnish a little table with writing materials and books. Be sure the wardrobe and chest of drawers are empty, so that she may unpack and arrange her dresses at once.

When the guest arrives have the luggage taken at once to her room, and when she goes upstairs send a servant to unstrap her boxes and take hot water for the toilet.

Every morning you should visit your guest's room and see that the chambermaid has put it in the neatest order.

Inquire if your guest has any favorite article of food, and have the dish prepared.

Entertain her nicely, even at some trouble to yourself. If you invite guests it is your duty to treat her (or him) well in everything.

Forbid the children to go into the visitor's room unless with a message.

When the guest leaves see that the servant goes up to strap her boxes and bring them down. If she leaves by an early train some of the family must be up to provide at the early breakfast and bid her good-by. Have car or carriage at the door in due time, and send a member of the family or a servant to get tickets and attend to the luggage.

VANISHED SAHARAN RIVER.

August Chevalier, a French explorer and geographer, believes that Lake Chad represents what was formerly the watercourse of a great river which flowed northward across the Sahara and emptied into the Mediterranean sea. Neolithic relics indicate, he says, the former existence of prosperous communities where desert conditions now prevail. At the present time Lake Chad shows occasional changes of level. Since 1897 its waters have continued to fall, but sometimes, after several years of unusual rainfall, it spreads beyond its ordinary bed. In 1903 Lake Chad dried up, and the hippopotami which had inhabited it were compelled to go elsewhere.—Youth's Companion.

WISPS OF WISDOM.

One does not advance far who treads many paths.

Some of our greatest joys are recalling the sorrows we have outlived.

There are only two things the matter with the world, selfishness and ignorance; and it's a question which is the worst.

The effect of wit is produced by its bringing one feature of the subject into prominence. It never gives a fair, all-around view. That is the province of wisdom.

The maxims of wisdom are the pieces of glass in a kaleidoscope; they remain forever unchanged and in the same case, but every age shakes them into a new combination of colors.

To say to a man when you ask him a favor: "Don't do it if it inconveniences you," is a mean way of saving yourself from an obligation and depriving another of the merit of conferring one.

Miss Van Fleet knew it, but if I tell him to stop, hell go home and tell the whole family that I'm crooked, Elizabeth exclaimed: "Oh, you blessed woman, with that bonny bunch of children. Let me help you." In her face she caught up one of the little laughing rugos, and carried him rugged against her breast, till she reached the moment that the poor mother called home. Then she went back to her own beautiful mansion. "The single reason," she said, "is my regret not having married. Had I married, I might have been as rich as that peasant woman with her five bairns to love her."

BUFORD-TRENTON.

Extensive Irrigation Projects will Soon be Carried out in Western North Dakota.

A new irrigation project which promises much for the Northwest is the Buford-Trenton Reclamation project. The United States government has set aside $250,000 for this work and the site operations will begin inside of sixty days. When this work is completed, some 13,000 acres of now arid land will be reclaimed and the Western part of North Dakota will be as attractive as the great valley of the Red River and the productive lands of the Mouse River Loop. It is asserted that the proposed dam and reservoir will hold between 20,000 and 25,000-acre feet of water, and the proposed canals will run north and south of the line of the Great Northern Railway to a point about three miles east of Trenton, North Dakota, from near Buford, North Dakota, on the extreme western border of North Dakota. This is the beginning of the extensive irrigation projects which have been planned by the government and individuals in Western Dakota and Northeastern Montana, which, together with the Milk River Irrigation project, will reclaim thousands of acres for settlement for agricultural purposes which have lain barren for years, and offer an opportunity for the homeless of the East to secure homes of their own. The fact that good agricultural government land is becoming scarcer and scarcer makes these irrigation projects of great interest to the homeseeker and investor.

MILK RIVER VALLEY.

The Interior Department is Making Preparations for Irrigation

This Famous Valley.

Montana is coming in for a big share of the general prosperity of the country, and it will only be a few short years when she will rank with any of the Northwestern states in agricultural greatness. The recent act of the Interior department of the United States in setting aside $1,000,000 toward reclaiming three or four hundred thousand acres in the Milk River valley is but a beginning of a much faster development of this section as the needs grow apace. Already the agricultural worth of this to-be-famous valley has been adequately demonstrated in the results which have followed the irrigation works already established. It has been successfully proven that all kinds of agricultural products grow in great abundance wherever irrigation is used. The soil is naturally rich and needs only moisture to make it yield prolifically. The Great Northern Railway furnishes adequate transportation facilities, its main line practically cutting the valley in two. The fact that the government has decided to begin immediate operations will prove a great incentive to the people of that section who have always believed in the future of their country and will open to settlement a vast area of rich land to the homeseeker and investor.

PHILIPPINE POPULATION.

The total population of the archipelago as returned from the independent islands is 5,635,435. Of this number almost seven million are more or less civilized. The wild tribes form about 9 per cent of the entire population. The civilized tribes are practically all adherents of the Catholic church. The Mosors are Mohammedans, and the other wild peoples have no recognized religious beliefs.

The total population according to the most reliable authorities, is a little more than four times as great as it was 100 years ago. During the same period that of the United States multiplied almost fifteen times. The excess of birth rate over death rate in the Philippines has been large, in spite of sudden and great losses as a result of epidemics of various diseases.

WIN THE DEBATE.

Breckenridge (Minn.) high school, represented by a team of three debaters, last evening won the final contest in the state school debating league, defeating the Albert Lea high school in one of the best contests ever held in the university chapter.

Lillian Eckhard, Louis Paul and Flora Lester were the girls who composed the winning team. They were opposed by E. W. Hayes, Margaret Lampert and Henry Swanson for Albert Lea, the latter team having the affirmative side of the question. "Resolved, That the policy of reducing further immigration to the United States to a minimum is impracticable and should be adopted."

The quality of the debate was remarkably good. Throughout scarcely a person in the immense audience ventured to predict which side would win.

Can't some enterprising cuss make a political issue out of the removal of John Paul Jones remains? Why was it done anyhow?

If Mr. Rockefeller will send a hundred thousand dollars to help swell a campaign fund, no questions will be asked.

Dr. Washington Gladden and others are fraud-smellers from away back. It would be extremely interesting to know the source of every dollar paid to ministers in the way of salary, especially those who have raised such a howl over the $100,000 Rockefeller check. No doubt they have all passed weary hours over their salaries trying to decipher what portion was honestly earned and what portion was derived from the sale of tobacco, beef, coal-oil, steel and iron, and have heretofore refused to accept the part of it not having the proper derivation.

A Chicago man recently wrote to an Oregon paper that many Chicagoans have conceived the idea that the Lewis and Clark Exposition which is to open June 1 at Portland, Oregon, is a sort of Coney Island show managed by the firm of "Lewis & Clark," of which Senator Clark of Montana is the junior member. Though it was not so stated by the writer mentioned, it is possible that these Chicagoans imagine the renowned J. Hamilton Lewis, formerly congressman from the state of Washington, to be the senior member of the firm.

This truly is rich. Chicago ought to know better than that. Even the school boys in this town are aware that Lewis and Clark were two great American historical characters, dead and gone these many years, who one hundred years ago explored the great country lying west of the Mississippi, going up the Missouri river from St. Louis to a point near its headwaters, crossing the Rocky Mountains overland and voyaging down the Columbia river to its mouth at the Pacific ocean. Our schoolboys know that the success of this expedition, which was sent out by President Thomas Jefferson, resulted in the acquisition of 357,000 square miles of territory by the United States, out of which three great states have been carved, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, not to mention considerable slices along the western parts of Wyoming and Montana.

FAMOUS ACTOR IN LAST LONG SLEEP

JOSEPH JEFFERSON DIES AT PALM BEACH, FLA.

THE EVENT NOT UNEXPECTED

End Comes After a Heroic Struggle for Several Days—Remains to Be Taken to Buzzard's Bay for Burial.

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 21.—Joseph Jefferson, the eminent actor, died at his home, "The Reefs," at Palm Beach at 6:15 Sunday evening. The end came after a day of unconsciousness and after heroic struggle of days, which had exhausted his vitality. At his death were his wife, his sons, Charles II and Frank Jefferson, his nurse, Miss Mabel Bingham, Dr. R. H. Potter and his faithful old servant, Carl Kettler. The end was not a surprise to his family. Ever since his last sinking spell, which came after

Cape Cod home, and the announcement of his death was received with genuine sorrow by the townspeople, to whom he had become a familiar figure during 15 years of summer residence here. So popular was Mr. Jefferson on Cape Cod that he had served for many years as the president of the Old Colony club, the summer driving club of the cape, whose annual reunions, principally of clams and other sea food, have been attended by many distinguished men. With former President Grover Cleveland he enjoyed many fishing excursions down Buzzard Bay and along the brooks of Bourne and Sandwich. His principal pastime, however, was painting. ## RATE LAW IS ASSURED

COMPROMISE ON BILL EFFECTED IN LEGISLATURE

WHOLE PLAN NOW "DOPED"

As Soon as Measure Passes Governor La Follette Will Sign and Qualify for United States Senator.

(Special Correspondence.)

Madison, Wis., April 21.—At last the bill surrounding the railroad rate bill and the governor's seat in the United States senate has been cleared away, for a compromise on the rate measure has been accepted by Gov. La Follette and the latter, after the bill passes both houses is free to do his toga and proceed to Washington. The compromise bill, which Halford E. Erickson, labor commissioner, and T. H. Gill, attorney for the Wisconsin Central railroad, hatched out, gives the commission the power to fix rates; provides that no rate fixed by the commission shall go into effect for 60 days; does away with the idea that an appeal can act as a stay in proceedings, leaving the injunction as the only means of redress for the roads; provides for six years of service on the commission at $3,000 per annum. The commission is to act as a broad of review to examine all schedules of rates and may order hearings to investigate unreasonable rates after giving the railroads ten days' notice as to the time and place of such hearings. Besides having power to fix rates, the new bill gives the commission power to compel railroad companies to furnish adequate service to shippers. Cars must be furnished within reasonable time after application is made for the service. Rebates of all kinds, secret rates or discriminatory rates, are forbidden. The commodity rate is preserved. A strong provision is made in the bill to allow this class of rates. But the commodity rates must be open to all shippers alike; there must be no unfair discrimination in its application. On this the commission law gives the railroad companies the same privileges they now enjoy, that of making rates, but the public carriers will be required by the new law, if it is passed, to keep on file at all stations copies of their rates, which copies shall be accessible to the public. A copy of the rates also must be filed with the commission. In addition to the local tariffs, all joint tariffs, contracts and agreements with shippers are to be kept at railroad stations.

Governor Supports Bill.

The governor has declined to accept any bill, the character of which he was not sure, but Chairman Bradock is authority for the statement that the governor declared his willingness to support the compromise measure. In consequence the fate of the bill is assured. It will soon be given to both houses and its passage will occupy but little time. There may be a hitch in the senate if the opposers of the measure prove themselves unexpectedly strong, but from the present outlook all seems clear to the so-called administration forces.

Only Hope of Roads.

The hope of the roads is in delay of getting the measure before the sojourns. If the railroad lobbyists can in any manner hold back action on the bill until late in the season, there exists the possibility that the legislature will adjourn without having made a railroad rate law. Halford Erickson and J. W. Thomas, the men who worked out the compromise measure, are regarded as almost certain to secure positions upon the commission when the law is passed.

Other Road Laws Promised.

Gov. La Follette last week sent to the legislature a message setting forth the need of a law providing for greater safeguards against railroad accidents. He urged a law placing the responsibilities for all accidents where they belong, juries to determine all between companies and employees. All accidents, the governor said, should be reported to the state. During the years 1913 and 1914 the number of deaths and accidents from railroads in Wisconsin was 2,624. The governor favored a thorough investigation of all accidents, and recommended the enactment of a co-employee law, similar to the one repealed in 1893. Railroad employees, in particular, he said, should be more fully protected. Following the governor's recommendation such a bill was introduced in the assembly and ordered engrossed.

Adjournment Prospect Bright.

That adjournment is in sight is echoed by the reports of the committee made last week and it seems to be the general opinion that the business may be cleared up in a short time. The number of bills pending before the assembly committees was as follows: Railroads, 8; insurance, 7; education, 15; elections, 5; judiciary, 6; joint resolutions and 45 bills; state fair, 12; cities, 6; town and county organization, 2; public and sanitation, 2.

Put Ban on Thornapple Dam.

A bill has been introduced into the assembly repealing the act which provides for the establishment of Thornapple dam in Chippewa county, where John Dietz has for two years been holding up by main force millions of logs because of the refusal of the Chippewa Boom & Log company to pay his toll. Many armed men have been on the scene and bloodshed is threatened, if something is not done. It is hoped that the pending measure may solve the problem.

Eaton May Be Expelled.

Senator Barney A. Eaton, of Cudahy, may be expelled from the legislature on the charge of testifying when on trial for the acceptance of a bribe of $100 that the most important matters of legislative business were determined in saloons over wine and drinks.

The judiciary committee has reported that the senator was apparently guilty of contempt and a resolution has been adopted ordering him to appear before the bar of the senate and show cause why he should not be expelled. This is the most determined effort which has been made to oust Eaton from his seat and there is the possibility that it may be successful. Senator Eaton was indicted three times in Milwaukee for legislative bribery, tried once and acquitted by a jury.

Warren Bill Passes.

Mr. Warren has had the pleasure of seeing his bill, a service measure passed in the lower branch, and now the upper sees success for his measure in the senate. The Ratay amendment providing for throwing all positions affected by the bill open to competition was killed.

Bachelor Tax Bill Dead.

The liberty of bachelors which came nearly being jeopardized by the legislature in the favorable reporting of the bill taxing unmarried men, is out from under the cloud. After considerable "horse play" the measure was killed by an overwhelming vote in the assembly. Mr. Cleary, who is engaged to be married, was the strongest supporter of the bill, but his efforts were fruitless.

Liquor Bill Fight Hot.

Petitions bearing names of nearly 20,000 Milwaukee citizens, protesting against the Stout liquor bill, have been received by the senate. A flood of such papers from all parts of the state are being received in the upper house. The Stout bill provides that liquor shall not be sold within a distance of 200 feet of public or parochial schools.

Exemption Bill's Fate Puzzles.

"What will the governor do with the exemption bill?" This is the question which is proving the all-absorbing topic of conversation about the hotel lobby and the capitol corridors. When passed in the senate the bill was carried on at every step, and now conjecture is rife as to the fate of the measure when it reaches the governor. The bill reduces exemptions from $60 to $30 per month. A similar measure some years ago was vetoed by Gov. Scofield, and members are inclined to believe that perhaps the same fate awaits this bill.

Anti-Spring Shooting Bill Passed.

After considerable debating the spring shooting bill has passed the assembly and senate. The advocates of the bill argued that it was unwise and inhuman to shoot aquatic fowl in the spring, when they were beginning to mate and when they were in poor condition. As much as representatives of surrounding states had agreed at a conference in Chicago last week to do what they could to secure a uniform closed season in all states during the spring months, Wisconsin should concurred in such arrangement. The opponents of the bill declared that for 14 years Wisconsin had a closed spring season law, and surrounding states had not seen fit to come into line with similar legislation. There was no assurance that the other states would do so, they declared, and ducks were practically as good for food in the spring as in the fall.

Log Rolling in Progress.

Measures are flying hot and fast between the senate and house these days, and each branch in handling the bills of the other in rapid fire order. As a result of the solons handling each other's bills, the next few weeks will see a great deal of logrolling between the upper and lower house members. One fact which had imprinted itself indelibly upon the minds of non-partisan and non-partisan correspondents in the legislature is the lack of factional spirit, so noticeable during the past sessions. In many cases in 1911 and 1913 good measures were killed by the solons because they were introduced by certain members whose politics was not looked upon with favor. This procedure has become a thing of the past, and as a result this session has accomplished some excellent legislation.

Plan Brule Park.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser, H. C. Pierce, and other large land owners along the Brule river in Douglas county, propose to donate land for the creation of a state park, provided the legislature takes steps to authorize the establishment of such a park. This plan was made known recently through a bill introduced by Senator Bird, of the committee on forestry, which provides for some of the preliminaries leading up to the carrying out of the plan. According to statements made, it is the purpose of Weyerhaeuser, Pierce and other land owners along the Brule to donate a tract of land a mile or more in extent on each side of the river for the park. Before this is done, however, they ask for the repeal of the law authorizing the construction of a dam across the Brule, and which, it is claimed, will interfere with the proposed park plan.

Other Legislative Notes.

The committee on capitol and grounds killed the Perry bill, providing for the removal of the state capitol to Oshkosh, and the gift of North park to that city as a site for the capital building.

Mr. Irvin has withdrawn his resolution providing for final adjournment on April 28.

The committee on assessment and collection of taxes reported a new bill providing for the taxation of the property of street car companies on an ad valorem basis.

A bill was introduced to tax telephone and telegraph companies on an ad valorem basis instead of by license system.

The assembly passed the Ties bill providing that marriages may take place immediately after the license is issued if the ceremony is performed in the presence of a parent or guardian of the bride.

The committee on privileges and election reported the woman suffrage bill without recommendation. The bill was introduced by Mr. Turner, and provides that any woman over 25 years of age may vote on city, village or town matters.

The committee on education recommended for passage a substitute for the Amatzia bill, No. 221A, providing for uniform textbooks for public schools.

Among measures killed was the Curtis joint resolution providing for annual sessions of the legislature.

The Froehmung bill, providing that candidates for office shall file a statement of their campaign expenses on the state calendar for indefinite postponement.

The social democratic resolution for an old age pension fund was killed.

Manchuria. The army experts are anxious to learn the results of bayonet attacks, as there is a suspicion that the loss of life from that weapon is not as great as has been represented. Medical officers say that if this is proven it will be an interesting discovery and will present a new phase of the value of the bayonet, the moral influence of which has been well-established.

The dedication of the Japanese minister to give any information on this subject is another illustration of that reticence which has been marked on the part of Japan all through the present war.

New Figure in Political Field.

NEW figure, it is said, is about to appear in the field of national politics and in the public service. This is Mr. Henry C. Frick, of Pittsburgh, the business associate of Andrew Carnegie and personal friend of the late President McKinley and of President Roosevelt. It is persistently reported that Mr. Frick will at some time in the near future be President Roosevelt's cabinet. The portfolio which is to be offered him has not been so positively predicted. There is a strong impression, however, that if Secretary Shaw retires next February, as it has been intimated, he may then Mr. Frick will be invited to come the financial head of the government.

Mr. Frick has had a phenomenally successful business career and is a bachelor of high rank. He has amassed great wealth in the coke business and in the steel business in connection with the Carnegie interests. He is much more democratic than the "Laird of Skillo." He has had a taste of politics and in a quiet way has had a good deal of success in his service for years. On several occasions he accompanied the fleets on their evolutions and at target practice, and made a study of all things pertaining to the manipulation of the big and little guns on the ships. During target practice on the open sea Sir Roosevelt would become so intensely interested in the shots as to be oblivious to his surroundings. He would shout and cheer lustily when an extraordinarily good shot was made. To this day he maintains his interest in this very important part of the service, and frequently consults with naval officers regarding methods of improving marksmanship and criticizes reports that do not show what he considers should be a record of efficiency.
